Character Description/Portrait

A character who relies on stealth, guile, and surprise to carry them through battle. The Scoundrel's primary goal is to find situations they can use Sneak Attack to deal high damage in a single strike. The easiest way to do this is to win Initiative at the start of combat, which their Attributes and the First to Act Lesson makes much more likely. They can also use Vanish to set up Sneak Attacks or safely reposition.

The Precise Evasion Talent lets them use Finesse for there Mental Defense. This gives them high damage reduction, but their low HP means they still don't want to be the focus of enemy offense for long.

When you start the game, choose between two Abilities: Shoot or Veil.

Shoot is a straightforward physical attack at a distance, giving the Scoundrel a reliable and safe way to deal damage when they can't find a Sneak Attack.

Veil obscures a Zone: creatures in the Zone are blinded, while those outside the affected Zone can't see into it. This can provide cover for the party to escape or force enemies to move or be blinded.

Personality Traits

The Scoundrel has several good options outside of combat. Their high Acrobatics, Stealth, and Sabotage makes them well suited for infiltrating secure areas. Deception gives them a fallback chance to talk their way out of situations if they're detected. A high Streetwise check lets them find opportunities and avoid problems when navigating the environment Scoundrels thrive in.

The Gangster's Cant Utility allows the Scoundrel to speak in code with others who work outside the law, meaning they can make plans and share information privately.
